Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Rose of Hope Now death came into the world! there is no more ancient mystery. But what man knows how death came first into his own soul, and grew and grew until all the leafage of invention must thereafter put forth in the shadow of it? Memories of that breeding-time of belief are vaguely outlined, though their bulk appalls and dominates. We cannot really go back to a phase when life was all life, and when its mysterious counterpart did not, as an overhung cloud, cast a shadow on the dial and, blurring the hour of day, suggest vaguely another bearing a significance we cannot name. Happy the child to whom death becomes familiar through some wise utterance from lips beloved: not too concrete an explanation of what shall not yet be explained, - the fruit of a cheerful sophistication, - but tenderly as the sunrise comes to reconcile us to that which is but may not be defined, and fold it in such mists of acquiescence that it shall not wholly alarm.
